Hundreds of people surrendered weapons, no questions asked, and received $100 cash for handguns, shotguns, or rifles, and $200 cash for assault weapons.

A total of 425 firearms were collected. This total included six assault weapons and three "ghost" guns, which are untraceable.

San Mateo County Sheriff Carlos G. Bolanos stated, "The purpose of the gun buyback program is to make the County of San Mateo safer for those who live and work here. Many households in the county have unwanted, unused, and unsecured guns. The purpose of the gun buyback is to get rid of guns, no questions asked. We are providing a place for people to come and dispose of them and get some money in return. We feel this will improve public safety in our county."
